THE SEVEN CARDINAL

DR. LESTER K. ADE

State Superintendent of Public Instruction

AMONG the cardinal objectives of education, ethical character may be regarded as of eminent importance, for it not only constitutes the ultimate objective of education, but is attained only by the development of practically every other one of the cardinal principles. Character is the inter-action of all the inherent qualities of personality.

Education for character implies that while we must give due consideration to the practical phase of life, we must also devote our minds to the good and the true. This we can do only if our ethical capacities are properly developed. The modern trend of education is to assist in enlarging and refining the physical, mental, and spiritual equipment of students, and to create in them a zeal for lofty ideals.

A person of sound ethical character knows self-control, for the practice of this virtue renders him more capable of serving others. He is kind and plays fair, for he has acquired the fine art of living with others in harmony. By his self-reliance he not only refuses to impose his duties upon others, but inspires others to assume their own burdens courageously. He soon becomes known as one to be trusted with responsibilities and to be depended upon to do the right thing in the right way. He works always in friendly co-operation on worthy enterprises. In short, the ethical person is loyal—loyal to duty, to self, to fellows, and to God.

PRINCIPLES OF EDUCATION

HOLLIDAYSBURG has had a century of continuous growth in public education. Today, through its improved building facilities, Hollidaysburg can meet the broad challenge of child development.

The Junior High School, now a separate unit, has a revised spirit and morale. Now activities offer previously desired opportunities for leadership and for self-expression. Relief from crowded conditions creates a pleasing school atmosphere.

The new courses in the Senior High School provide instruction in health, home-making, vocational training, and manual practice. Better class room methods, improved morale, and more varied activities are now in evidence.

The guidance program aims to give each pupil assistance in meeting one's problems. A continuous pupil record, beginning in the first grade, makes possible intelligent advice to each pupil. Through personal contact, boys and girls are encouraged to build proper attitudes and ideals as a basis for ethical conduct.

Public education in our nation aims to preserve the tradition and the culture of our people; it provides opportunities for pupils to attain knowledge, to build character, and to grow in personality; it strives to preserve the ideals of democracy and to assure its future through an enlightened citizenship. Hollidaysburg is prepared to meet this challenge; and through the co-operation of the home, the church, and the school, the children of the community will attain these great objectives.

COMMAND OF THE FUNDAMENTAL PRO

THE fundamental processes, in order of their social importance, are oral language, silent reading, written language, and arithmetic. Today society is more dependent upon a universal command of these tools of knowledge than ever before. This modern day with its complex political and social organizations, its extensive intercommunication system and industrial development, could not possibly exist without a literate population. Oral language determines the advancement in social contacts. The ability to express oneself orally in clear, effective, and correct language undoubtedly gives to one a decided advantage and a sure aid to success. Much less used by the average individual, nevertheless urgent, is written language. This includes composition, spelling, and penmanship. Reading enters into practically everything that one undertakes as a member of society. The ordinary affairs and the important events of the day, also the changes in human affairs can scarcely be known, except through print. Since universal skill in practical arithmetical computations is required for ordinary business transactions, the usefulness of arithmetic, the least important of the processes, has increased with the advance of civilization. Modern life would be impossible without the fundamental processes—one of the greatest gifts which civilization has bestowed upon mankind.

THE principal life pursuit of man is his profession, or occupation by which material wants are supplied. All social activities and relationships are conditioned by vocational success. Most of us must depend upon regular employment for livelihood. Economic opportunity and security for the members of society are fundamental to civilization, and to the culture and to better conditions for which we struggle. The complicated industrial life of the modern world has changed vocational pursuit from individual to collective enterprises, transforming their character and fusing their success with that of the whole economic system. As always, economic life has been concerned with production, distribution, and consumption of material means of satisfying human desires. In primitive society, these factors had a simple co-operative relationship but in modern times they have become separated and the equation of supply and demand frequently functions. The economic welfare of mankind depends upon a more harmonious and better adjustment of the factors. If society is to thrive and to succeed, education for economic life is imperative. This education must not only contain training for skillful production is some narrow field, but must include the various aspects of the production, distribution, and consumption of economic goods and service.

FUTURE FARMERS ORGANIZE

ON December 13, 1937, forty-eight boys, studying vocational agriculture in our school, organized a local chapter of the Future Farmers of America and applied to the Pennsylvania State Chapter for a charter. The charter was granted January 18, 1938.

The Future Farmers of America is the national organization of farm boys who study vocational agriculture in the public schools throughout the United States. The national organization is composed of state chapters and these,

SENIOR CLASS OF 1938

JUST six years ago the Class of 1938 entered the portals of Hollidaysburg High School unheralded, but with a determination to equal or surpass the records that were set by classes that had gone on before us.

The first two years in the junior department of the school were devoted to getting adjusted to the new surroundings and to getting accustomed to the new type of work. There were no great accomplishments these two years, but the class made its presence felt by its loyal support of all the various activities sponsored by the school.

During the ninth and tenth years the Class of '38 began to make its presence felt in the school. The ninth year brought many new additions to the class. Non-resident students increased the class roll to 250 members. The tenth or sophomore year many of our members became actively engaged in the school activities. King Wise acted as an alternate on the debating team. Shirley Abelson represented the school in the forensic contests and brought home a victory. The Girls' League Play found Jeanne Banholzer, one of the leading chraacters, and Jimmie Martz played a lead in the school's operetta.

The Junior year the class gradually became more important factors in the school. The H-Burger, our school paper, gave the budding journalists an opportunity to express themselves. Needless to say our group made use of the opportunity. The boys of the class with their increase in height and weight found earned positions on the athletic teams. Among our athletes were Wright, Brenner, Goodfellow, Piper, Conrad, Russell and Mountain. This year the class again had a party and also sponsored the Junior-Senior Prom in conjunction with the seniors.

September 1937 the class returned to school after the summer vacation as the senior member of the classes of the school. One and all we had looked forward to entering the new building being erected as a senior high school, but construction delays made it necessary to return to the old building. Half day sessions were necessary, and the seniors attended school only during the morning. October 18 the seniors along with the sophomores and juniors entered the new building for the first time. Here we began the final chapter in our high school careers.

Seniors watch girls intra-mural basketball game.

For our class officers we elected William Dunn, President; Carl Kins, Vice-President; Jeanne Fries, Secretary; William Goodfellow, Treasurer. These officers with Miss Reed, class adviser, guided the clas through a very successful year. More and more of the class took part in the activities that the facilities of the new school afforded.

The gymnasium provided athletic opportunities for both boys and girls. Each senior homeroom sponsored both a girls' and boys' basketball team. Many of the boys became quite proficient tumblers. Among the tumblers were Matthew Hayes and Burleigh Grove.

The various dramatic events sponsored by the organizations of the school gave the class further opportunities. Joan Rooney and Jones Rollins played leading roles in the Girls' League Play. Anna Jean Harry, Jimmie Martz, Walter Wright, Janis Krelitz, and Luther Conrad had leading parts in the play "The Night of January 16," sponsored by the senior class. Jones Rollins and King Wise were end men in the Boys' League Minstrel Show and other seniors were in the chorus.

Many of the members of the school band and orchestra were members of the Class of 1938. Walter Carberry, the drum major, was a senior. The Future Farmers Jug Band had among its members the following seniors; Ernest Clyte, Burleigh Grove, and Eugene Helsel.

Among those students honored by being made members of the National Honor Society were the following from the Class of 1938: Jimmy Martz, William Dunn, Marjorie Suter, Shirley Abelson, Hazel Diehl, Betty Burger, Geraldine Albright, Primo Lusardi, Elmer Landis, King Wise, Harry Carnell, Jeanne Fries, Betty Lois Edwards, Helen Gillette, Mary Ruth Hitchings, Joan Rooney, Anna Jean Harry, William Miller, Janet Smith and Ruth Reed.

The social side of our life was not neglected. A class party was held annually. In addition, during the Junior and Senior years the class made merry at the Junior-Senior Prom held at the Penn-Alto Hotel in Altoona.

A recapitulation of the accomplishments of the Class of 1938 would show that this group that entered the high school six years ago unherald has left a record worthy of any group, and that the class has lived up to the determination with which it entered the school.

JUNIOR CLASS OF 1939

THE exodus from the old high school building to the new one brought many happy reflections concerning the growth of the Class of 1939 during our five years as an organization. We shall never forget the difficulties we had in finding our correct classrooms and observing all the traffic rules in the halls. We numbered ninety when we entered the portals of Hollidaysburg High School, and under direction of our advisers Miss Gearhart and Mr. Mentzer we chose as our leaders that year: Louise Leonard, President; John O'Brien, Vice-President; Stella Heeter, Secretary; and Miriam Read, Treasurer.

That year we were well represented in the various activities, having had several members on the football team, one member in the Junior Orchestra, and one representative in the High School band. In spite of being known as the babies of the school, we cheerfully overlooked this undignified title as we had many enjoyable experiences and looked forward to quite a few happy adventures in the future.

As eighth graders we felt very proud that we could now look down upon the seventh graders. Our officers were: Eva Mae Treese, President; Max Hunter, Vice-President; Mary Ellen McGee, Secretary; Roger Turk, Treasurer—again we took part in a large number of school activities. We boasted that we had two representatives of our class in the band and five in the orchestra. One member was taken for a Junior High cheerleader, and another took an important part in the Girls' League play. We also laid plans for our first class party which was a huge success. Our advisers, Miss Wilt and Miss Fitts, were very helpful to us in many ways. We had some other new experiences that year—the girls studied cooking and sewing, preparing many excellent dishes and made fine white caps and aprons. Junior Busines Training and Guidance were also new and interesting subjects.

When we became freshmen, we were happy as we knew that we were really a part of the Hollidaysburg High School. This year we were given our choice as to the course which we were to take and we found some of our subjects to be quite different and difficult; such as Civics, Algebra, and Latin. When we first entered our homerooms, we were surprised to learn that the number of our students had increased from ninety, the number of the eighth grade class, to two hundred and seventy-one and we hardly recognized ourselves this first day of the school term—many friendships were made between the old and the new high school students. Along with our newly acquired friends, we could not, of course, escape the title of "green freshies." We were very perturbed about this at first, but we soon became accustomed to it. Several of our boys played on the football and bsaketball teams, while others were inclined to have musical talent, the girls, as well as the boys, were in the band and the orchestra. Our advisers were Miss Reed and Miss Ammon, and we elected the following officers: Clyde Ling, President; Eva Mae Treese, Vice-President; Wiliam Burger, Secretary; and Walter Sellers, Treasurer.

And then we were sophisticated sophomores and we realized that we were taking more important parts in many activities—band, orchestra, football, basketball, track, and various stage productions such as the Girls' League play and the Boys' League Minstrels. Our officers were: Tom Yingling, President; Joe Delozier, Vice-President; Bill Baronner, Secretary; and Ray Gill, Treasurer. We again had an excellent party. We encountered many new difficulties in our subjects, and we shall never forget our fear of going to Geometry classes.

This year we entered Hollidaysburg High School as juniors and we were even more distinguished than in former years. We had as our adviser Miss McIlroy and elected as our officers: Tom Yingling, President; Joe Delozier, Vice-President; Jocelyn Walsh, Secretary; and Bill Baronner, Treasurer. Our football season is over, we are proud as we realize the large part many of our boys played in winning some of the games. Many of our boys were on the basketball team. In athletics Tom Yingling, Bill Baronner, Russ Irwin, Frank Hudson, Walter Sellers, Don Cuff, James Dannals, Ray Gill and George Schaefer were outstanding members of our football team and Russ Irwin, Robert Deam, and Bill Burger outstanding members of our basketball team. Others represented us in musical activities, such as the Boys' League Minstrels, band, orchestra, senior chorus, and dramatics, such as the Girls' League play in which Barbara Rifenbary, Peggy Smith, Joe Delozier and Herbert Winecoff took part, and the H-Burger staff. Some of our journalists went to the State Press Conference at Hershey, Pennsylvania.

At the beginning of the year we greatly anticipated being in our new Senior High School. And how pleased we were when we finally saw the interior of this fine building which seemed to lack nothing.

We are very proud of our beautiful gymnasium where all our assembly programs, in which quite a few of our members have taken part, are held. Some of our girls have already become quite skilled in playing basketball and in performing various stunts and Hollidaysburg High School now shows great promise of turning out some fine girl athletes.

Many of our resident as well as non-resident students enjoy staying for lunch because of our new cafeteria and enjoy dancing in the gym two lunch periods out of the week. Some of our members are in the dance orchestra which plays during these periods. We look forward to two important social functions this year; our class party in March which certainly ought to be the best one we have ever had for we now have excellent dancing facilities, and the Junior-Senior Prom which we have anticipated ever since our seventh grade days.

Although many old faces are not to be seen now, there are many new ones to take their places. Soon we will be leaving this Junior work behind us and we shall look forward to our Senior year when we shall, we hope, be much more dignified than previously. We are very proud of our excellent record and certainly hope that it will be even better next year when, as seniors, we will have many important duties to perform. So come on, Juniors! Let us pull together so that we may call our class the most successful to ever be graduated from Hollidaysburg High School.

The Junior Class has quite a few representatives in the various new departments of our Senior High School. There are quite a few of our members who are taking shops this year and they promise to be fine mechanics in the future. This new type of work especially appeals to some of the boys who have exceptional ability along that line.

Then, too, there are ten Junior girls who are taking Domestic Science. This work is even more enjoyable than in previous years because of the fine facilities for work. Some of our girls aid in the preparation of the food for, and work in, the cafeteria at noon.

Some of our boys are taking agriculture, and Allen Smith took an excellent part in our interesting farm show demonstration at Harrisburg.

Our members were active in the new organizations, the Student Council for example. This council was composed of approximately two people from each room who were elected by the members of the homerooms to represent them. In the meetings, many fine things were acocmplished, the various problems of the school were discussed. The Juniors took a keen delight in offering their ideas and in taking part in these informal conversations, in telling of various problems which had been discussed in their homerooms and in taking the decisions of the council back to their rooms.

We wish to say a few words here in memoriam to one of the members of our class, Wallace Nisewonger, who was killed on December 27, 1938, when his sled on which he was coasting collided with a car. He was an honored member of the class and his friendship with his fellow students is sadly missed.

THE Class of 1940 has grown from a group of timid, frightened seventh graders to a position where they have fulfilled the high expectations held for them by their teachers. From a very modest beginning to sophomores they have now reached a point where they are conspicuous in all the affairs of the school.

The first two years, as members of the then six year high school, the class had little or no opportunity to show its ability. As freshmen the group grew both in ability and in numbers. With the addition of the rural group the class numbered 240 as freshmen.

Under the able leadership of President Herman Reiser and his capable staff of officers, consisting of Homer Winters, Vice-President; Robert Malone, Secretary; and Ted Greene, Treasurer, the class rose to great heights during the sophomore year. Mr. Glenn O. Bressler acted as adviser of the class that year.

The sophomores were first in many school activities; the class will be the first to complete all three years of its high school life in the newly erected building.

New opportunities presented themselves with the new building and the sophomores made use of them. The gym gave both boys and girls their first opportunity for intra-mural sports. The sophomore girls ranked very high in the homeroom basketball leagues. The boys became quite adept at tumbling and represented the school on the first tumbling team. Sophomore girls played an important part in the physical education demonstrations that were sponsored by the Girls' Leaders Club.

Varsity athletics gave the boys still further opportunities. Elwood Querry and Clifford Gillette were on the football team. The entire Jay Vee basketball team were sophomores. Mark Fries, Robert Malone, Herman Reiser, and Jesse Kensinger were members of the cheerleaders squad that led the student body in yells and songs. A high percentage of the class attended the various contests, especially the football games.

The Class did not neglect the social side of life; the party held in February by the class was the big social event of the year—a very entertaining program was given. The Misses Pickles, Cox, and Harpster of the school faculty sang. Margaret Yingling, a member of the class, also sang. The sophomore members of the jug band that was formed by the Future Farmers Club played several numbers. Dancing and games followed the formal program.

Several members of the class exemplified the thespian ability of the sophomores. Marian Daugherty and Herman Reiser had leading roles in the Girls' League play, "A Full House." The homeroom programs of the class often took the form of plays given by members.

The Class of 1940 had also many fine musicians listed among its members. Among those in the band were Robert Karns, Eugene Martz, Marguerite Snyder, Marjorie Anna Statler, Thayer Nale, Robert Evans, and Paul Mitchell. The junior and senior orchestras also included many representatives from the sophomore class. Among them were Robert Evans, Marjorie Mondy, Robert Hite, Fred Seabach, Ralph Frank, Betty Croyle, Ralph Diehl, Paul Mitchell, Cecil Black, Lorraine Davis, Pauline Kratzer, Thayer Nale, Anna M. Statler, and Loren McCall. Sue Funk, a member of the class, often entertained the group and the school with her singing. Many of the boys were among the cast of the Boys' League Minstrel Show.

The new courses offered in our school this year gave greater opportunities to all of the students of Hollidaysburg and vicinity. The sophomores were among those students that elected the new courses. Our girls are pursuing the Home Economics Course and many of the boys have chosen the Vocational Agriculture Course. Industrial Arts, introduced this year, has given the boys an opportunity to use their hands in making things and the articles displayed have proved that the sophomores have taken a keen interest in this new type of work in our school.

Scholastically we have at times reached the heights and at the other times we have failed miserably in trying to solve those problems that confront the average high school sophomore—the country over. Daily we have fought with Caesar in his Gallic wars and struggled also with angles and planes in geometry. The problems of the ancient kings and the problems of the plant and animal kingdoms have also been our problems. It has been our hope that we will eventually find the solution to what has seemed insurmountable problems to us.

Many incidents have taken place to break the routine of our daily school life. We were late for class and sometimes late for school. Our tardiness necessitated our signing the so-called "zero hour book" and sometimes necessitated our making up time after school. Sometimes we pushed and ran in the halls. Very often our members passed notes and very often we attempted to skip classes only to be caught on all of our attempts. We tried to chisel into the cafeteria line only to be politely but meaningfully told by those in line to get on the end. At times our teachers have become quite exasperated with our feeble excuses for not knowing our lessons and at other times they have praised us when we have achieved the goal set for us. In spite of all our shortcomings, the conduct of our group was no better or no worse than the remainder of the student body.

A brief summary of all of our accomplishments shows that we have come a long way from the timid, frightened, seventh graders that we were when we entered the high school to the position of esteem and responsibility that we now hold. Athletically, scholastically, and socially we have grown. Although we have been mischievous at times, we feel that our contacts with students, faculty and administrators have helped to erase many of our rough spots and that eventually by becoming worthy citizens we will be worthy of the hopes and trust our parents and teachers have placed in us.

FRESHMAN CLASS OF 1941

SEPTEMBER 5, 1935, found the Class of 1941 eagerly awaiting with mingled joys and fears the sound of the bell admitting its members to the high school organization for the first time. The Class looked forward with eager anticipation to becoming actively engaged in all the activities they had viewed from a distance as elementary school pupils. Band, Orchestra, sports, clubs, Chimrock and the host of other extra-curricular activities sponsored by the high school seemed to be uppermost in their thoughts.

The first year of being high school students brought many changes. From the small units of elementary classes emerged a group, 125 in number. The Stultz, Gaysport, and Hillcrest schools contributed members to the class. The work of former years seemed like play compared to the tasks that the group now had on hand.

The class elected the following officers to guide it through the first year of organization: John Woodcock, President; Peggy Wolfe, Vice-President; Katherine McFarland, Secretary; Phyllis Alleman, Treasurer. Miss Gearhart and Mr. Mentzer acted as class advisers. During our first year our biggest accomplishment was becoming orientated so that we would be ready for the future.

The second year of high school life found the following as the officers of the class: Welling Graul, President; Peggy Wolfe, Vice-Presdient; Naomi Brua, Secretary; John Woodcock, Treasurer. During this year many new opportunities presented themselves due to the class having been a member of the school the year previous. Some of the group were selected in the cast of the Boys' League Minstrel Show. Others acted as club officers. Peggy Wolfe and Welling Graul were presented the American Legion awards for having been selected as the best all-around girl and boy of the class. Roselyn Abelson and John Woodcock were given honorable mention. Although the class members could not take part in most of the school functions such as plays and varsity sports, each of these activities received the loyal support of the class. At each event a great number of the class of '41 could be found.

The reorganization of the high school into two units found the class of 1941 no longer looked upon as "Greenies," as the ninth grade classes of the past in Hollidaysburg had been so classified. Now the ninth graders were the highest in rank and the faculty and students expected the class to be the leaders of the school and set a worthy example for the remainder of the school.

For class officers for the 1937-38 school year, the class elected Welling Graul, President; Marion Suter, Vice-President; Marjorie Cassidy, Secretary-Treasurer. The class this year was the largest ninth grade class in the history of Hollidaysburg. From the 125 seventh graders we became 275 strong as ninth graders due to the great number of non-resident students who joined our group.

The autumn of 1937 witnessed the resumption of sports in the Junior High School. Many of the class answered the call for candidates for football issued by Mr. Harvey Serfass, the new coach of Junior High sports. Among them were Marion Mentzer, Maney Lingenfelter, Kenneth Bingham, Frank Magee, and Claude Jeffers. Many of the basketball candidates were also from the ninth grade. The boys also answered the call for track and wrestling candidates.

Many new ideas were instituted in the newly organized Junior High School and as usual the class of 1941 had the honor of putting them into being. Each class met regularly and various members presented programs. On several occasions the class was privileged to hear speakers from the high school outline the various courses offered. Miss Ruth Spaulding gave an outline of the Home Economics Course and its objectives. Mr. Glenn Bressler spoke on the Vocational Agriculture Course. The aims and opportunities offered by the Commercial Course were presented by Miss Margaret McIlroy. Mr. D. H. Loree, the Hollidaysburg High School Principal, gave a description of the Academic Course and told who should pursue this type of work.

Projects never attempted by the Junior High were tried this year and in each instance success greeted the efforts of the students. Three one-act plays were presented. Each class of the school presented a play. The ninth grade gave "Julius Caesar" as their production. The Junior High School Operetta, "The King Sneezes," also found many of our class in the cast. Another project worthy of note which was supported by the ninth grade was "The Junior High Burgarian," the school's official newspaper.

For the first time we had a class party which was held in the new gymnasium of the high school building. As in all of our undertakings, the class members entered into the spirit of the occasion and a very fine party resulted.

Robert Bice, Dorothy Bice, Doris Keller and George Gardner represented our class in the school orchestra.

Much of our success for the past year we owe to our class officers and to our advisers, Miss Betty Kemp and Miss Eudora Meyers. Our advisers had a difficult job since this was the first year for our Junior High School and we did not want to set a precedent that would not be a worthy one. Under the guidance of our advisers we believe our choices have been to the best interests of our school.

THE EIGHTH GRADE CLASS

UNDER the leadership of John Stultz, President; Kenneth Downing, Vice-President; Doris Shaffer, Secretary-Treasurer; the eighth grade took a place of prominence by the reorganization of the Hollidaysburg School System. In the past the egihth grade class was next to the youngest member of the school, but since the organization of a three year high school and a junior high school the eighth grade class became the next to the oldest member. The class has endeavored to live up to the responsibilities and c h a l l e n g e s thrust upon it by virtue of its new position.

The eighth grade class contributed considerable support to the athletic program instituted this year. Claud Jeffers, Joseph Haller, and John Stultz, under the capable leadership of Mr. Harvey Serfass, played on the Junior High football team. Joseph Haller, Claud Jeffers, John Stultz, and Melvin Stewart represented our school and our class on the basketball court.

During the past year the eighth grade conducted class meetings the t h i r d Thursday of each month. After the business session the meeting was turned over to a committee who had prepared a program in which the talent of the class participated.

In order to raise money to pay for the pictures in the Chimrock, we initiated a new method—instead of assessing each student with a set fee, the class decided to sponsor moving pictures and charge five cents admission. The pictures chosen for this helpful purpose were "Do Detectives Think?" a comedy, starring Laurel and Hardy; "Winter Olympics," an actual picture of various countries participating in the Olympics at Lake Placid. Our last reel, "Just See," portrayed many interesting animals and happenings. Judging from the success of these movies we feel that we have made a notable contribution to methods of collecting funds for class purposes.

The Junior High School, in its infancy, as a separate unit, made many strides the first year, an accomplisment of which we are extremely proud. Our class worked hard to make as many worthy contributions as possible. With this is mind our journalists helped to make a success of the "Junior High Burgarian" by writing articles, collecting news, and advertising in the home rooms. In scholastic standing, we were among the first for we had a very high percentage on the honor roll. Others helped to make a success of our Junior High Operetta, and still others added much to the fun of the Junior High School Circus. During Music Week we displayed our musical ability in the Chorus and Glee Club. We must not forget our dramatists for Miss Myers judged us worthy to dramatize a one act play for the public. This play, entitled "The Wallflower," portrayed a little braggart who thought polished manners and good English were unnecessary—how he discovered his mistake will be remembered by the many who were able to attend this production. This year, for the first time, we were fortunate to be able to participate in intra-mural sports. The records proved that we had some potential star athletes among our boys and girls.

We owe much of our success to the guidance of our advisers, Miss Evelyn Dean and Mr. Harvey Serfass.

THE SEVENTH GRADE CLASS

SEPTEMBER 8, 1937! What a grand rush for one hundred and three happy students! Sixth grade students promoted from Gaysport, Hillcrest, and Stultz were now the new seventh grade. And what a group! The smallest member measured fifty-one inches high while the tallest person reached a height of sixty-eight inches. Weights ranged from fifty-three pounds to one hundred and seventy-eight pounds.

Our group was assigned to home rooms 201 and 210 with Miss Gearhart and Miss Kemp as reporting teachers. Here we enjoyed meeting and getting acquainted with new faces and new surroundings.

At the end of the first six weeks when the senior high school moved to the new building, we went on full time and settled down to work in earnest. As soon as we had the building to ourselves, our principal, Mr. Henshaw, instructed our class to organize. Heretofore, the class officers were nominated and elected during a regular class meeting. This year a nominating committee, elected by the class, made the nominations for the various class officers. The class then voted for these candidates. The officers elected were Betty Jane Farrington, President; Lorraine Bice, Vice-President; Richard Manchester, Secretary-Treasurer. These people, guided and asisted by our class advisers, Miss Wilt and Miss Gearhart, have carried on the work of our class in a very efficient manner.

During the year we have tried to do our best in carrying on the work we found before us. Our home room programs were interesting and instructive, and when it came our turn for assembly programs, we enjoyed entertaining the other students of our school.

Another innovation this year was the class meeting held regularly every third Thursday. Besides being very enjoyable, these meetings enabled us to discover talent in our midst. Our readers, players, dancers, and other performers promise an interesting time for the years we shall spend in completing our high school career.

Although we were the babies of the junior high division of our school, our enthusiasm in the various sports of our school made up for our size, and at every game in both football and basketball could be seen a delegation of seventh graders.

In the intra-mural basketball contest room 210 won every game they played except one, being defeated for the junior high championship by freshman room 203.

On February 3 our class presented "Girls' Gold," a fantasy, as our part of an evening entertainment to help earn money for our pictures in the Chimrock. Seven of our members took part in the junior high operetta sponsored by our music department, while eleven of us participated in the circus put on by our physical education classes.

We have done our best, and as our first year in junior high comes to a close, we look forward to even more interesting experiences, realizing in the words of the poet, Holland, that

"Heaven is not reached at a single bound,
But we build the ladder by which we rise
From the lowly earth to the vaulted skies,
And we mount to its summit round by round."

in turn, are made up of local chapters.

During the past year the Board of Education of Hollidaysburg added a course in vocational agriculture to those courses which were already offered to the student body. The new course of study gave the students who chose it an opportunity to become a part of the national organization of Future Farmers of America.

The local chapter elected the following as officers: Paul Russell, President; Elbert McCready, Vice-President; Richard Long, Treasurer; John Mountain, Secretary; Ernest Clyte, Chaplain; Donald Shaw, Reporter. Glenn O. Bresler, teacher of agriculture, acted as club adviser. Blue and Gold have been chosen as the colors of the national organization. The motto follows:

Learning to do, Earning to live,
Doing to learn. Living to serve.

The purposes of the Future Farmers of America are:

To develop competent, aggressive, rural, and agricultural leadership.

To strengthen the confidence of the farm boy in himself and in his work.

To create more interest in the intelligent choice of farming occupations.

To create and nurture a love of country life.

To improve the rural home and its surroundings.

To encourage co-operative effort among students of vocational education in agriculture.

To improve thrift among students.

To promote and improve scholarship.

To encourage organized recreational activities among students of vocational agriculture.

To supplement the regular systematic instruction offered to students of vocational education in agriculture.

To advance the cause of vocational education in agriculture in the public schools.

pose the development of each girl to be a worthy home member. All the club programs were planned and given with the above mentioned purpose in view. Many of the programs took the form of demonstrations by club members who were taking the home economics course. These demonstrations were given for the benefit of those club members not being home economics students.

A very interesting style show featuring clothing made by students was given by club members from the clothing department. Many appropriate garments for everyday wear were shown. Another program entitled "American Girl Beauty Products" proved to be very entertaining as well as educational. This skit proved to the girls that to get the best results in enhancing one's beauty nature's own products should be used.

The social and social service phases of home membership were not neglected. During the holiday seasons the club members prepared baskets of food which were given to the needy. On St. Valentine's Day, February fourteenth, the club had its first party. An elaborately decorated valentine box featured the program. Games and music completed the entertainment. A very fine luncheon was served by a committee of members.

The facilities of the home economics department of the new high school building afforded the club greater opportunities than the girls have had in the past. These facilities combined with the fine spirit of co-operation of the girls under the capable leadership of the club officers and the club adviser made a success out of the club program. Miss Spalding, the adviser, cannot be given too much praise for her guidance in making the club so successful in its first year of existence.

BOOK TWO

ETHICAL CHARACTER

ONE of the major educational goals throughout the history of civilization is ethical character. Moral excellence and integrity of character have long been recognized as fundamental to happiness and to a successful social life. It is, of course, recognized that standards of right and wrong vary from age to age, but there are moral traits and social ideals that have a permanent value and that are unalterable by changing conditions. Violation of these standards is disastrous, and society cannot afford to ignore them. They are found among Pluto's "cardinal virtues" and are prudence, courage, temperance, and justice. The prudent one is considerate and discreet, while a courageous one is strong and firm in his moral convictions and obligations. Self-control is practiced by a temperate man, who must be habitually moderate in his passions. The just man is fair and upright, being a dependable, law-abiding member of society. Character education involves the development of the habits of right conduct, the formation of moral attitude and the acquisition of ethical knowledge, and the regarding of what is right and proper and the application of it in its new surroundings. The soundness of all education lies in its ability to develop desirable character traits in individuals.

GOOD citizenship, in its broadest interpretation, consists of all the other cardinal objectives and is the ultimate aim of all education. It includes physical and mental fitness, a command of the fundamental processes, a worthy home life, good employment, a worthy use of leisure time, and the acceptable traits of character. Education along these lines is the training required for citizenship. However, in a restricted sense, citizenship has to do more specifically with one's participation in the civil affairs of the government to which one owes allegiance and from which one is entitled protection. The education for citizenship in a democracy includes the development of proper civic appreciation, attitudes, habits, and useful civic knowledge. An appreciation of the political heritage and its value, plus a strong feeling of loyalty for one's native land are also fundamental for good citizenship. Since democracy is, after all, a manner of living, rather than a political theory or machinery, the good citizen must form many basic civic habits. They include participation in political gatherings, obeying the laws, voting, and performing numerous civic duties. To do all these things intelligently, one must acquire much civic knowledge which will then enable him to serve his country well.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY MEETS

THE first function of the National Honor Society this year was the induction of new members into the organization. The seniors who were already members participated in this ceremony. Marjorie Suter conducted the devotional exercises; Shirley Abelson explained the emblem, told what the colors were and for what they stood. Betty Lois Edwards, William Dunn, James Martz, and Jeanne Fries discussed Character, Scholarship, Leadership, and Service, the most significant requirements for membership in this society. William Dunn read the names of the following new members and asked them to come to the stage: Hazel Diehl, Betty Burger, Geraldine Albright, Elmer Landis, Harry Carnell, Primo Lusardi, and King Wise. William Plank, the guest speaker for this occasion, gave a most impressive talk.

At the first meeting, James Martz was re-elected President; William Dunn, Vice-President; and Geraldine Albright, Secretary.

Upon the completion of the new Senior High School, the chapter had its first opportunity to be of service to the school. The members escorted visitors through the building, and pointed out the places of interest. The group again acted as ushers when the building was dedicated.

Every member looked forward with enthusiasm to the monthly issue of the magazine "Student Life," for which the organization subscribed at the beginning of the year. Many entertaining articles, as well as educational material, appear in the magazine. The purpose of "Student Life" is to encourage better practices in student activities. The chapter has given the library a year's subscription for the benefit of all students.

The most outstanding function of the National Honor Society this year was the sponsoring of noontime activities. The society provided checkers and other games for use at lunch time.

The following new members were added the second semester: Jack Caldwell, Robert Deam, Joseph Delozier, Ruth Falbo, Helen Gillette, Anna Jean Harry, Mary Ruth Hitchings, Max Hunter, Louise Leonard, Mary Ellen McGee, William Miller, Ruth Reed, Joan Rooney, Janet Smith, Jocelyn Walsh, and Hazel White.

SAFETY COUNCIL AIDS STUDENTS

HAVE you ever wondered why you see Jimmy Martz, Jim Thompson, and Ray Lingenfelter braving the cold, rain, or ice every morning to stand at the street corner with little red, white, and blue flags? They are Patrol Boys of the Hollidaysburg Senior High School. Their job is to watch the pupils of the school cross the street so that they cross in safety.

The safety council came into existence in the Hollidaysburg schools in 1936 with Walter A. Kearney as safety director of the school district. This year they again organized. The club consists of two students from each home room, which makes a total of twenty-four members. They elected for their officers for the year: President, Jimmy Martz; Vice-President, John Jones; Secretary, Kathleen Long; Treasurer, Anna Jean Harry; Chaplain, Jones Rollins.

The Council meets the fourth Thursday of each month to plan safety programs for the homeroom and to discuss problems that may arise. The list of topics for homeroom programs for this year were: October—Fire Prevention; November—Safety in the School Shop; December—Holiday Safety; January—Safety Lessons from Nature; February—Accident Reports and Their Use; March—Bicycle Riding; April—Spring Games and Sports; May—Vacation Safety.

Also every year the council sets aside various streets which are known as safe coasting areas. Cars are not supposed to travel these streets.

The members are always watching for any condition in the school or at home which may be harmful to anyone and to remedy it if it is at all possible. If they cannot remedy it, they should at least warn everybody so that no one will get hurt.

The Safety Council of our school is only one of the many branches operating under the National Safety Council. The Council, divided into three divisions dealing with industrial problems, public safety, and education, has a membership representing ten million people working for public safety.

CLUB STUDIES CURRENT EVENTS

CHINA, France, Spain, Roosevelt, Franco, George VI, Washington, Harrisburg, and Hollidaysburg! Such was the array of subjects that were discussed by the members of the Current Events Club in the bi-monthly meetings in room 28 of the High School building.

The club meetings never lacked a program due to the fine cooperation of all the members. Groups of boys were assigned to gather various types of news and then report to the club. At the end of the report a general discussion was held wherein additional information was given by the club members or specific questions answered by the reporter. The general discussion period proved to be of great interest to all. Many interesting debates resulted from the different viewpoints the boys expressed concerning the reports given and very often an interesting meeting was ended by the sounding of the bell for the third period class.

Foreign news dominated the greater part of the programs. War and all its ramifications proved to be of interest to all. The effect of war in either Asia or Europe on the United States was discussed.

National, State, and local news was not neglected. A watchful eye was kept on the doings of the president and Congress. The decisions rendered by the Supreme Court, also, formed a basis for news. Governor George Earle of Pennsylvania proved to be an interesting figure in the news of the day.

Local news attracted the attention of the club members when our Borough Council was reorganized early in January.

The purpose of the Current Events Club, to create interest in the daily events of the world at large, was achieved by the group.

Jim Thompson, President, proved to be a worthy leader and never failed to take an active part in the general discussions. Other officers who capably filled their positions were Fred Seebach, Secretary; Raymond Magill, Chaplain. Mr. William Shellenberger acted as adviser to the club.

WM. A. HERMAN SPEAKS TO HI-Y

THE Hi-Y Club once again promoted "clean athletics, clean scholarship, and clean living" among its members and the entire student body. This organization had for its purpose "To create, maintain, and extend throughout the community standards of Christian character."

As in the past, the Hi-Y Club sponsored many interesting and educational programs in the form of lectures, demonstrations, and motion pictures. One of the outstanding programs of the year was that presented by Mr. William A. Herman, local herpitologist. Mr. Herman gave the club many interesting facts concerning nature and also exploded many of the myths and superstitions which have been in the minds of many people concerning animal life, especially those concerning reptiles. Mr. Herman explained the origin of such expressions as "As blind as a bat," "Slimy as a snake," and others, and in addition pointed out the fallacies of most of the expressions quoted.

Mr. Dan C. Pitts, former secretary of the local Y. M. C. A., presented a very interesting program to the club. Mr. Pitts' program was a moving picture depicting the wonders of the marine world. The pictures were of great interest to the club members, especially, since many of the group had never had the opportunity to visit the seacoast. In addition to the marine pictures, Mr. Pitts showed a reel of pictures which gave the boys an idea of how circus tricks are perfected and then performed. Many interesting highlights of life under the big top were shown.

Student programs emphasized how the members of the club could promote better sportsmanship, better scholarship, and better living among the Hollidaysburg students. Many plans were given whereby the school could be made a better place in which to live.

The following boys served as officers of the club: William Goodfellow, President; Ray Gill, Vice-President; Robert Preston, Secretary-Treasurer; Clair Arford, Chaplain. Mr. L. C. Stoudnour served as club adviser.

GIRLS STUDY ETIQUETTE

"BEAUTY is as beauty does" was the theme of the Etiquette Club throughout the year. The quest for beauty was under the able leadership during the first semester of Barbara Bouton, President; Geraldine Skipper, Vice-President; May Alice Miller, Secretary; and Kathleen Hartsock, Chaplain. Miss Margaret McIlroy acted as club adviser. The second semester Emma Metz was elected President; Hilda Woods, Vice-President; Margaret Yingling, Secretary; Gladys Hoover, Chaplain.

The girls began their quest for beauty by discussing topics pertaining to their homes. Interesting as well as instructive discussions on personal neatness, the proper use of the telephone, table manners, and consideration for others were presented by various committees.

Actual telephones were used in dramatizing the proper procedure of giving a telephone call as well as answering it. The girls decided not to say any longer the antiquated "Hello" when answering their telephones at home, but to identify themselves by giving their names. Long distance calls as well as emergency calls were dramatized, which proved to be entertaining and at the same time highly educational.

Another topic of vital interest to the girls was the perplexing problems of introductions. Few people, indeed, have not at some time felt extremely embarrassed by failing to introduce properly new acquaintances. The girls portrayed scenes of introducing their friends to their superiors. Finally the entire club was transposed fictitiously into a party and two of the girls graciously acted as hostesses.

Rules of conduct in public life were also reviewed and when practical they were enacted by different members.

Due to the great range of topics that could be appropriately discussed, there was little trouble in finding interesting material. Occasionally the program was handled by a "Professor Quiz" who asked the girls questions from the Altoona Mirror's column, "Mind Your Manners."

The cooperation of the library staff in supplying the club with books on manners and courtesy was greatly appreciated.

CLUB HOLDS SKATING PARTY

THE first meeting of the Girl Reserves Club, sponsored by Miss Dorothy Harpster, was called to order October 28, 1937, for the purpose of electing officers, who were as follows: President, Jayne Haller; Secretary, Mabel Frazier; Treasurer, Hester Sellers; Chaplain, Ardis McIntyre.

After the first meeting, the club became very busy attending many social events planned for club recreation. Among them were the dances held at the American Legion Hall; the intra-club council meetings at the Y. W. C. A., where all the Girl Reserve club officers met to discuss ideas for the club meetings; and the roller skating party at the Young Men's Christian Association. These activities gave members an opportunity to get acquainted with each other.

During the school year, the club attended the "Hanging of the Greens" and the Candlelight Services. Miss Esther I. Williams was a guest speaker in the club.

An important study during the year was the organization of the club from its birth in 1920 up to the present day. From the material "Yesterday and Today," found in the "Paragraph Book," the girls learned that the first Young Women's Christian Association was organized in 1866, one year after the Civil War, and the first General Secretary was Mary Foster.

In club this year, the members have learned the Girl Reserve Creed, a helpful and guiding structure. The aims of the organization are these: Gracious in manner, impartial in judgment, ready for service, loyal to friends, reaching toward the best, earnest in purpose, seeing the beautiful, eager for knowledge, reverent to God, victorious over self, ever dependable, and sincere at all times.

As Girl Reserves, the club has tried to do all the worth-while things, to have good times, to learn of God and His world, to make and be friends with others, and to serve all.

The girls feel that this year they have accomplished a great deal towards being true Girl Reserves.

JUNIOR HI SELECTS ALMA MATER

MARY C. LIGHTNER, a ninth grade pupil, proved to be the best lyric writer of the Hollidaysburg Junior High School when the students and faculty chose her song as the school's Alma Mater. The song, which is sung to the tune of "Roses Hide the Rue," follows:

Striving to do what is right,
Willing and able to fight,
When there's a task to do,
The red and white will come through,
Junior High—
Strong and true, we'll come through,
Waving our red and white,
Gaining the highest height,
Junior High is our cry;
We have learned from you
Knowledge ever true.

BOOK THREE

HEALTH and the conservation of life are so fundamental to social efficiency today that they are society's first concern. Physical and mental fitness are essential, both to individual happiness and to social achievement. A great philosopher of the seventeneth century said that "the attainment of a sound mind in a sound body is the end of education." An important step in health education is to provide the members of society with a fund of accurate and scientific information and to help them in the forming of health habits. Although the world today is progressive in providing healthful and sanitary environment, it has also created problems of its own. The wide social contacts increase the spread of contagious diseases, and artificial heat and poor ventilation have interfered with the respiratory system. The health problem, in both preventive and curative measures, has become so much a social concern that it is becoming a public function. Under present conditions, the health and physical fitness of one individual, directly or indirectly, concerns other members of the social group. Nothing should prevent one from receiving a complete health education, and the creation of the desire and attitude to accept this is also a part of health education.

REALIZING the importance of health in the making of a progressive society, the Hollidaysburg School District offers to its students all possible instruments of health training. A standard size gymnasium has been erected in the new Senior High School Building where classes in physical training take place daily under capable supervision. The health of the students from the first to the twelfth grade is guarded by the careful examination of the school doctor, nurse, and dental hygienist, who also teach helpful health habits.

Since competitive sports offer so much to physical and mental fitness, intra-mural teams in basketball and track are emphasized in both grade school and high school. An elementary basketball league has been formed and exercises much influence in making healthier students. Although many people are under the impression that the chief benefits of athletic competition are stronger muscles and larger chests, we realize that the awards are more plentiful. If a game is played wholeheartedly and for its own sake, it yields more physical, mental, and social benefits than any other single activity in which the youth may engage. With this good in mind, Hollidaysburg High maintains varsity teams in football, basketball, and track.

THIS SECTION IS DEDICATED TO JOHN A. MATTHEWS AND DR. J. W. STITZEL, BOARD OF EDUCATION MEMBERS, FOR THEIR UNTIRING EFFORTS TOWARDS THE PROMOTION OF BETTER EDUCATION IN THE HOLLIDAYSBURG SCHOOL DISTRICT.

DURING the football season of 1937, the Golden Tigers of Hollidaysburg High won four games and lost five. Although the season was not a success from the view-point of games won, the team, because of its display of courage and fighting spirit, had the loyal support of the townspeople and student body throughout the entire schedule of games.

Credit must be given to Coaches "Vince" Chimente and "Dick" Mentzer for the manner in which the squad of new material developed from game to game. Due to the graduation of most of the 1936 squad and also to ineligibility, the coaches had to build an entire new team. The squad, although inexperienced and very light in comparison to their opponents, gave a good account of themselves in every game. The Tyrone Orange and Black eleven, enjoying one of its best years of football history, was the only team to really outclass the Hollidaysburg Tigers. The schedule and summary of games follows:

H-BURG 18.....SAXTON 0

Opening the season against a heavy and experienced Saxton eleven, the Burg team surprised its followers by overwhelming the Saxton boys by an 18-0 score. In this game Coach Chimente used his entire squad.

H-BURG 47.....BURNHAM 0

The Golden Tigers, sparked by the fine playing of Winters and Irwin, had an easy time defeating a light, but plucky Burnham team. Irwin's 80-yard run for a touchdown on the opening play of the game featured the Burg offensive.

H-BURG 6....FRANKLIN BOROUGH 7

After pushing over a touchdown early in the second quarter and then failing to convert the try for the extra point, the Gilden Tigers lost by a 7-6 decision to the very heavy Franklin Blue Jays. The Blue Jays were able to push over a touchdown in the final quarter by continuously hammering at the light Burg line. The all-important point conversion was made and Franklin left the field, victor for the first time in the inter-school games between these worthy foes.

H-BURG 25..PORTAGE TOWNSHIP 0

Quickly recovering from the defeat administered by Franklin Borough the Golden Tigers met and defeated Portage Township by a 25-0 score. With Yingling, Irwin, and Winters on a scoring rampage and the Burg line functioning smoothly, the visitors really were outclassed by the Tigers.

H-BURG 19.....EBENSBURG 6

The Ebensburg game marked the beginning of the heavy end of the Hollidaysburg schedule.

Always a tough opponent, the Red and Black invaders from the mountain top played a fine game, but fell before a second-half passing attack featuring "Dink" Winters and John Brenner.

Time after time Brenner's passes to Winters were good for large ground gains or touchdowns. The 19-6 score is the largest victory margin between the schools since resuming relationship.

H-BURG 6.....MOUNT UNION 13

At Mount Union, the Golden Tigers suffered their second defeat of the season by a 13-6 score. This game marked the inaugural of night football in Mount Union.

The game was played in a heavy downpour of rain, which made good offensive football impossible. The Burg aerial attack could not function due to the slippery condition of the ball. Mount Union scored in both the second and fourth periods. The Burg eleven did its scoring in the third quarter.

H-BURG 2.....PHILIPSBURG 13

In a game characterized by rough play, the third defeat of the year was administered to the Burg team when Philipsburg invaded Dysart Park and won 13-2. Philipsburg tallied in the first quarter when a Burg punt was returned from mid-field for a touchdown. Philipsburg again scored in the third quarter. The Golden Tigers' two points came as a result of a deliberate safety by Philipsburg.

H-BURG 0.....TYRONE 27

As a feature attraction to the annual Armistice Day celebration, the Burg eleven met the strong Tyrone Orange and Black team at Dysart Park. Tyrone invaded the lair of the Golden Tigers with a fast, heavy, experienced team. Paced by two stellar backfield men, Ammerman and Snyder, Tyrone had an outstanding record for the season.

The first-half play was en exhibition of exceptional courage on the part of the Burg boys. Outweighed as much as twelve pounds to the man, the light Chimente-coached team carried the fight to Tyrone. Again and again the Tyrone attack was repulsed during the first half, but it was evident that the Tigers could not hope to cope with the weight and power of the Orange and Black for long. The half ended in a scoreless tie.

The second-half attack displayed by Tyrone featuring the brilliant play of Ammerman soon resulted in a Tyrone score. Ammerman, aided by a powerful line, was able to cross the Burg line three times. Tyrone scored again in the fourth quarter on a lateral pass to Ammerman. The Tyrone star converted three of the four tries he made for extra points.

Although beaten, the Burg eleven reaped quite a lot of praise for their first-half stand against overwhelming odds.

H-BURG 18.....HUNTINGDON 19

In a game packed with thrills, the Golden Tigers closed the season by losing to the Huntingdon Bearcats. Thanksgiving Day, at Huntingdon, 19-18.

Due to a muddy field and the failure of the Burg management to take mud cleats to Huntingdon, the heavier Bearcat team was able to shove the Chimentemen all over the field the first half and gained 19 points while the Burg failed to score.

After replacing their regular cleats with mud cleats, at half time, the Burg boys returned to run rough-shod over their opponents, only to lose by failing to convert any of their three tries for extra points. The second half was featured by the fine running of Irwin and the passing of Brenner. Taking passes from Brenner, Conrad and Winters both scored touchdowns after long runs. Irwin scored first for Hollidaysburg when he ran straight through the Huntingdon line and secondary for 80 yards. On the final play of the game, Winters caught a pass over the goal line, but the score was nullified when an official ruled "Dink" had stepped out of bounds as he caught the ball.

As a fitting climax to the season, the Hollidaysburg Kiwanis Club, in conjunction with the Hollidaysburg High School Athletic Association, tendered a banquet to the football squad. Dr. John B. Sutherland, University of Pittsburgh football coach, was the main speaker of the evening. J. Joseph Kabella, on behalf of the Kiwanis Club, presented Coach Vincent Chimente with a watch as a token of appreciation for his services to the school and community.

At a special assembly of the student body, the varsity letter award was made to Goodfellow, Brenner, Mountain, Piper, Winters, Conrad, Cuff, Irwin, Sellers, Hudson, G. Schaefer, Dannals, Gill, Baronner, Yingling, Querry, Onkst, and student manager, Walter Wright. Numerals were awarded to Gillette, Marks, White, Nichols, and student managers, C. FOOTBALL INSPIRATION

EVERY year, along with the representatives on the field, we need several persons to lead our encouragement from the side lines. This year the job of assembling a cheer-leading corps again fell into the hands of Griff Jones. By the time of the opening game of the season, a very capable sextette to lead the cheering was chosen.

Herman Reiser was chosen as head cheerleader with Mark Fries, Eddie Drass, Clifford Mitchell, Robert Malone, and Jesse Kensinger as his assistants. This group lent their best efforts at all "pep" meetings and games.

For the first time in ten years, uniforms were furnished the cheerleaders. A royal blue, jockey satin jacket trimmed in white with a white H on the back, and pants with a two-inch white stripe down the side comprised the uniform.

Too much praise cannot be given to the student body for its fine spirit and for the cooperation given to the team and cheerleaders at the pep meetings and games. Regardless of the outcome, the students remembered the Hollidaysburg motto, "Victory or defeat, H-Burg forever," and cheered the team until the final whistle had been blown in each game.

The pep meetings this year were featured by the students and faculty giving various viewpoints of the game of football. Miss Dorothy Harpster gave the faculty angle; Hazel Diehl gave the girls' viewpoint; Walter Wright gave the viewpoint of the boys; Luther "Boots" Conrad gave the players' angle of the game. Coaches "Vince" Chimente and "Dick" Mentzer expressed the viewpoint of the coaches.

Cyrus D. Thompson and the High School Band did much to keep up the spirit of the team and its followers. At the games and in the pep meetings, the band performed and accompanied the students in singing the school songs.

The support given to the team by the townspeople gave the boys added encouragement and was appreciated by the entire school.

JUNIOR HI RESUMES FOOTBALL

AFTER a four year period during which football was not supported as a sport, the Hollidaysburg Junior High School once again had a team. Harvey Serfass, a former Gettysburg College star, was elected to fill the role of athletic director of the junior high school by the Hollidaysburg Board of Education.

Coach Serfass' task was a difficult one. Lacking experienced players, he had to build from the bottom up in his efforts to mold a team. Starting out with a small squad of light but determined boys, Coach Serfass managed to build a team to play a three game schedule. All of the Hollidaysburg Junior High School's opponents were schools that had been supporting teams for some years.

The following is a brief summary of the games played:

H-BURG 0..STATE COLLEGE 35

Opening their season at State College against a big, fast team, the Burg eleven was crushed under a 35-0 score. This game served as a lesson to the boys, and they improved considerably after the State College game.

H-BURG 0.....PHILIPSBURG 0

Hollidaysburg's second game, which was played at Philipsburg, showed the Burg to be a much improved team. In this game the Cherry and White boys played the role of iron men, as not a substitution was made. After threatening to score several times, the Burg team left the field with a 0-0 score.

H-BURG 0.....KEITH 21

The final game of the season was plyaed with the Keith Junior High at Dysart Park. Weight and experience proved too much for the local team, and Keith won by a 21-0 score. Poscowoych, Keith's stellar fullback, crossed the Burg goal three times to score touchdowns. The Burg Cherry and White held the Keith team scoreless the final quarter by a display of fine defensive play.

The following boys were awarded the Junior High School varsity letter: Mentzer, Robinson, Riley, Jeffers, Hesselbein, Piper, Claar, Williams, Lingenfelter, Bingham, Bender, McGee. Additional awards in the form of numerals were given to Haller, Benton, McCaulley, and Wyland.

Faculty Manager Shellenberger posts a notice.

VARSITY USES NEW GYM

THE 1937-38 season marked a new era in basketball for the Hollidaysburg High courtmen. No longer did the teams representing the schools, junior and senior high, have to practice and play at the Y. M. C. A., for now the newly erected gymnasium could be used.

The past season did not show the results of games won or lost that the new gym should eventually bring, but observers saw greater interest in basketball being manifested by a larger number of boys. In the fuutre the coaches should be able to devote all their time to basketball fundamentals and play, for the physical education classes now are developing coordination between muscles and mind by exercise that formerly used up the time that should have been devoted to the game.

The team that represented Hollidaysburg the season just finished again demonstrated good ball handling and good teamwork and, at the same time, the weakness that has been persistent among the boys the last few seasons, that of being unable to garner points even though they had plenty of opportunities. Time and again the boys lost crucial games in the last few minutes although they had really outplayed their opponents throughout the contest. The Tyrone, Huntingdon, Roaring Spring, and Lewistown games were notable examples.

The team really reached its peak in the Philipsburg game when the boys combined teamwork with excellent goal shooting to win 35-18. This was the only game in which the boys really lived up to expectations.

Although not often a winner, the following team members deserve credit for their efforts: Wright, Brenner, Conrad, Lusardi, Deam, Irwin, Goodfellow, Burger, O'Brien, and Delozier.

Wright, Brenner, Lusardi, and Conrad will be lost by graduation this year.

JAY VEES MADE UP OF SOPHS

COACH RICHARD MENTZER, with the idea of building for the future varsity teams, limited his Jay Vee basketball squad to members of the sophomore class. Although not often a winner, the boys of the Jay Vee team at times played an excellent brand of basketball and gained experience that should serve them well as future varsity team material. Many members of the team had had no basketball experience whatever, but as the season progressed it was seen that they were making great strides in developing into finished players.

The team started the season off by winning three straight games, and it was thought for a time that they might duplicate the fine record made by the 1936-37 Jay Vee team. The Antis Township, Madera, and Robertsdale Jay Vee teams were beaten in pre-Mountain High League warm-up games, but the Roaring Spring Jay Vees were victors over the locals.

When the Hollidaysburg team began to play the regular Mountain High Jay Vee schedule, their lack of experience very often spelled defeat for them. The team dropped a hard fought game at Tyrone by a 25-17 score in their League opener and continued to remain in the losing column as they met Lewistown, Philipsburg, Huntingdon, and Mount Union. The locals finally were victorious when they defeated Gallitzin, a non-league member, by a 23-19 score. This game was decided in the final minute of play when the Burg team made two field goals. The team then lost all but one of the remainder of their League games, but managed to salvage some glory by defeating the school's ancient rivals from Williamsburg in their final game.

The following boys played in the majority of the Jay Vee games: Green, Parvin, Reiser, Gillette, Jones, White, Shaffer, and the Wilt twins, Robert and William.

Many of the above-mentioned boys should make the varsity squad next year and develop into fine players by their senior year.

JR. HI BECOMES LEAGUE MEMBER

UNDER the guidance of Coach Harvey Serfass, the Hollidaysburg Junior High School once again supported a basketball team. The school became a member of a league composed of teams from State College, Philipsburg, Keith, Roosevelt, and Hollidaysburg Junior High Schools. In addition to the regular scheduled league games, the Cherry and White team of Hollidaysburg met the Williamsburg and Roaring Spring Junior High teams both at home and away.

The league competition proved to be too fast for the inexperienced Serfass-coached team, who lost all of their games with the exception of the Philipsburg contest at Philipsburg. The latter game was declared forfeited at a later date when it was found that one of the Burg players was past the 16-year age limit.

The Cherry and White team dropped their initial game to Williamsburg by a 24-9 score. Although they displayed fairly good teamwork, the locals lost when they began taking too many long shots. The second game played found the Hollidaysburg team putting up a spirited battle with Roaring Spring. This game was a nip and tuck affair from start to finish with the "Springers" finally winning by a one point margin.

The first contest played by the locals on a foreign court marked their only victory of the season. The Burg team beat Philipsburg by a 20-13 score when Haller and Lingenfelter found the hoop for six baskets apiece. State College, Keith, and Roosevelt soundly trounced the Cherry and White in the contests played with each other.

Although not a winning combination, the boys on the Burg team learned many valuable lessons that will serve them in the future as members of the Junior High team, or as members of the high school squad. Mentzer, Lingenfelter, McDermott, and Wade will be lost this year, but Coach Serfass will have experienced players in Stultz, Haller, Jeffers, Stewart, and Smith for next year's team.

TRACK SQUAD WINS HONORS

A BRIEF resume of the accomplishments of the 1937 Burg team may serve as a barometer for the foretelling of what may be expected of the 1938 wearers of the Blue and White.

The boys who represented Hollidaysburg in track and field events during the 1937 season brought more honors to the school than any other track squad for the last decade. With such veterans as Gifford, Haller, Pressel, Winters, Kins, and others as a nucleus, Coach "Dick" Mentzer was able to develop a well-balanced team both on the track and in the field.

During a series of dual and triangle meets, Coach Mentzer was able to discover flaws in his team and later make corrections in preparation for the State College invitation meet and also the District VI championship meet. Dual meets were held with Juniata College Freshmen, Tyrone, and Roaring Spring. A triangle meet with Tyrone, State College and Hollidaysburg participating was held under the lights at Dysart Park. Hollidaysburg was able to garner enough points to win all the above mentioned meets with the exception of the Juniata College Freshmen event.

Coach Mentzer's proteges won the Central Pennsylvania Invitation Meet at State College by defeating the best schools of the district. In this meet, Edward Slippey won a thrilling victory in the mile event and returned to Hollidaysburg the Detwiler trophy for the second consecutive year. During the same meet, Francis Winters won a hard-fought, half-mile race, and the crack mile-relay team from Hollidaysburg came in first to gain many points toward a team victory. Gifford, Leibegott, Kins, and Baronner made up the relay team.

The Burg relay team pulled the surprise of the year by defeating the Altoona High boys in the District VI meet. Later the Burg boys finished fourth in the State Championship event.

Although graduation took a heavy toll from the 1937 team, prospects for 1938 are good.

BOYS ORGANIZE LEADERS' CLUB

THE inception of physical education in the Hollidaysburg Junior and Senior High Schools created a need for student leaders to assist the physical instructor in his various classes. To meet this need and to prepare boys for the position of student assistants, the Boys Leaders' Club was organized under the direction of Mr. Richard Mentzer, physical education instructor and assistant athletic coach.

The physical education classes were organized under the general plan of dividing the classes into squads with each squad having a leader and an assistant leader. The squad leaders had the responsibility of demonstrating the various phases of the work of the course and of teaching the fundamentals of each new phase to his squad.

The members of the club were selected this year chiefly for their known athletic ability and for their leadership qualities. In the future, the members will be selected from their rating on Brayces Motor Ability Test, Eazen's Test of General Athletic Ability, and those qualities of leadership which they displayed in their daily school life.

The club programs were devoted to the training of the members in the fundamentals of the various phases of physical education that were to be presented to the classes. Each week the boys were taught the material that was to be presented the week that followed. In this manner the student leaders were well equipped to demonstrate to their squads the new lesson and to teach the fundamentals of that lesson.

Although the class squads were more or less permanent in nature for one semester, squad leaders served a shorter period of time in order to permit a greater number of boys to get the experience of leadership. By following this plan many exceptional fine squad leaders were found.

The following boys were elected to serve as the first officers of the Leaders Club; Carl Kins, president; Jones Rollins, vice-president; Monroe Jones, secretary.

LEADERS' CLUB ENACTS PLAY

THE introduction of physical education for girls in the school system of Hollidaysburg brought new opportunities to the girls of the Junior and Senior High School. Opportunities for leadership in physical education classes were among them. The Girls' Leaders Club, under the sponsorship of Miss Ann Cox, physical education teacher, was organized. The senior group of girls elected the following officers: Geraldine Albright, president; Ganelle Hollenback, secretary-treasurer. Dorothy Downing, president; Jeanne Marks, secretary-treasurer; Dorothy Bice, chaplin, were the Junior High club officers.

A play entitled, "The Past, Present, and Future of Physical Education in the Hollidaysburg High School," was enacted by the senior group of leaders. The juniors presented, "The Junior High Circus."

The following were the requirements to become a squad leader and to become a member of the club:

The leader must be kind, patient, courteous, reasonable, and helpful in all her relations with her squad members.

The leader must wear the standard uniform, shoes, and socks, and is expected to set a high standard of cleanliness for the other members of the class.

The leader must report at the regular monthly meetings.

The duties of a squad leader are as follows:

The leader must take charge of her squad when assigned special activities.

The leader must act as scorer, timekeeper, or official at intra-mural games and act as team captain for inter-class competition during regular gym work.

The leader must take care of equipment and also keep the locker room clean and in order.

The leader is responsible for the safety, instruction, and participation of each member of the squad in all activities.

The leader must see that all members of her squad take a shower, dry, and dress promptly.

The club members took the following pledge:

"I will make my influence count on the side of right, avoiding habits that weaken and destroy."

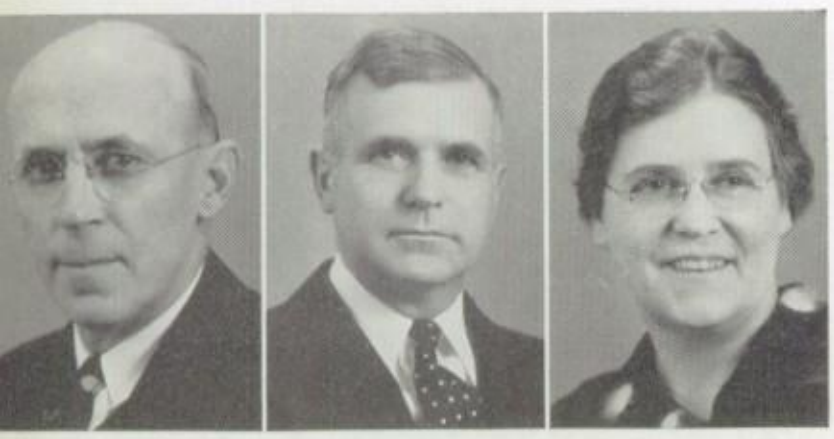
WORTHY HOME MEMBERSHIP AND

THE family group, consisting of parents and children, forms the first unit in civilized society, both in point of time and in fundamental importance. The earliest functions of this revered social institution were to beget children, to provide for them and to prepare the child for adult pursuits. Recently the industrial revolution, advancement of science, and the feminine movement have been prominent forces in destroying the old-fashioned family and in making necessary a new type of domestic institution. Although the family organization has changed, it continues to be the basic social institution with important specialized functions to perform. Worthy home membership in modern society should include training for essential family functions. If the child's right to correct nutritive and educative care is to be guarded, knowledge in regard to heredity, environment, and health habits should be gained. Home life should provide cheerfulness, comradeship, protection, and should provide the needed rest and security from the outside world. This good demands knowledge that involves the care and management of domestic affairs, home-making activities, and the importance of cooperative democratic ideal of home membership. Since the home is no longer self-sustaining and self-perpetuating, definite training for worthy home membership is a social necessity.

SINCE the invention of machinery, actual hand labor has been immensely reduced. In fact, it has been reduced so much that human labor is of little need. This invention has resulted in a shortening of the working day, observance of more holidays, limitation of labor, reduction of jobs for older men, who, therefore, must retire. Even the housewife, through modern labor-saving devices, has been freed of many former household tasks. The spare time, once so scarce and difficult to find, has now been thrust upon an unprepared population. Still, with the inevitable increase of mechanical slaves to do the routine tasks of man, more unemployed time is bound to follow. If this expansion of leisure time is not to hang heavily on the hands of the masses and to lead eventually to the destruction of civilization, adequate education must be provided for its worthy use. Education for the worthy use of leisure must aim to provide individuals with interests in a number of appropriate recreational activities. In the selection of activities, the duration, permanence, and benefits, along with the relative worth, should be taken into consideration. Adequate education for leisure time has become one of the most important problems of modern civilization.



THIS SECTION IS DEDICATED TO HOMER C. McKILLIP, DR. IRA MITTERLING, BOARD OF EDUCATION MEMBERS, AND TO BLANCHE M. DAVIS, SECRETARY, FOR THEIR UNTIRING EFFORTS TOWARDS THE PROMOTION OF BETTER EDUCATION IN THE HOLLIDAYSBURG SCHOOL DISTRICT.

GIRLS' LEAGUE REORGANIZES

IN OCTOBER of 1927, the Junior and Senior High School girls organized into a Girls' League for the purpose of creating an interest among the girls in extra-curricular activities.

The League as a whole sponsored a two hundred dollar scholarship to be awarded to a worthwhile senior girl who desired to attend a higher institution of learning. This scholarship was awarded for six years.

In 1936, the League organized a Student Loan Fund to replace the League scholarship awarded in earlier years. The fund was created by the League to enable girls to further their education in whatever field that they might desire to enter upon graduation.

Through the various girls' clubs, many interests and hobbies were developed. The number and kinds of clubs sponsored by the League each year varied with the desires of the girls.

The success of the Girls' League during its first ten years was due in a great part to the untiring efforts of Miss Alverda Treese, who was one of the original faculty advisers of the League and continued to act as an adviser until 1937.

Just ten years from the organization meeting of the Girls' League the Senior High School girls met and revised the original constitution of the League to fit the needs of the senior high group.

The girls elected as their officers for this year; president, Anna Jean Harry; vice-president, Marjorie Runyeon; secretary, Marion Dougherty; treasurer, Marjorie Lotz. Miss Margerey Reed became the faculty adviser of the League with its reorganization in the Senior High School.

The girls plan club and League programs so that they provide both entertainment and educational value.

The League presented for its annual play, "A Full House," which proved to be one of the most popular plays ever given by the League. The play was directed by Miss Anne Jones and Miss Betty Kemp, who have directed the League's plays for several years.

CENTURIES ago civilized people regarded acting as a pastime, but as the interest and enthusiasm grew for perfected characterization it is now regarded as a profession. Since the development of the motion picture, the demand for talented actors is great. Many schools have dramatics as a course itself.

The purpose of the Dramatic Club of the Hollidaysburg High School is to stimulate the interests of some of our high school girls and to discover and develop talent by teaching them the fundamentals of amateur acting, make-up, and arranging the stage furniture. Of course, no person can achieve success without first gaining experience by hard work and perseverance.

With this thought in mind the girls joined the club under the supervision of our advisor, Miss Anne Jones, who has instructed us in dramatics. We elected Mary Ruth Hitchings to serve as president; Priscilla Barnett as vice-president; Joan Rooney as secretary-treasurer, and Betty Lois Edwards as chaplain. The club was divided into groups supervised by a leader. For each meeting one of the groups provided a program for entertainment. This plan was very successful for each group had something new and interesting to offer. Short comedy, tragedy, or melodrama.

Some of the things which we found necessary to remember in acting are: picking up cues, maintaining a stage picture, watching our diction and appearance, and keeping the audience well interested.

By studying the art of make-up we acquired the knowledge of applying it to emphasize the beauty of one, or to use it to characterize the individual part a person is playing. The girls have acquired the art easily, and each is ready to do the art justice.

Some of the most famous actors of today were discovered while acting in amateur plays and groomed for stardom. We have studied the lives of many famous actors. We studied their personality in the hope of developing ours.

GLEE CLUB SINGS OLD FAVORITES

AMONG the new clubs formed this year in the Girls' League was the Music Club, advised by Miss Mary D. Pickles.

The purpose of this organization was to sing for pleasure, and no efforts were made to teach difficult music. The members of the club bought choral books of the less difficult semi-classical music, and a portion of each period was devoted to this type of singing. Along with semi-classical music came the study and use of popular songs. Contributions were made to a music fund to buy this music used by the club. The programs therefore were very interesting because of the variety of songs used.

The enrollment of the club consisted of fifty-one members. To assume the leadership of the club during the 1937-1938 school term the following officers were elected: President, Eva Mae Treese; Vice-President, Sara Jane Wallace; Secretary, Caroline Jackson; Chaplain, Margaret Mary Madden.

In our club we were fortunate to have several pianists, and these talented girls took turns in serving as pianist for the club. Much fun prevailed in the singing of popular songs, and it was one way to keep up with the musical times.

Although this club was practically new, the former music club was the Glee Club. Each member feels that she has benefited by her membership in this different type of organization. Miss Pickles, an accomplished vocalist, sang for us several times besides helping us over the rough spots in our songs. We feel that our voices have improved considerably due to the expert direction of our adviser. Every member entered into all phases of our club work enthusiastically and made it a huge success.

If in the future the same interest is shown in the appreciation of vocal music as has been shown this year, this club will prove its worth as a part of the Girls' League organization.

NATURE CLUB MAKES WOOD CHART

"Poems are made by fools like me,
But only God can make a tree."

How true is this lovely poem of Joyce Kilmore's, and taken to heart its meaning is real. It's the byword of the members of the Girls' Nature Club. The club was newly formed this year to meet the demand of the outdoor girls.

At the first business meeting Katherine Bechtel was elected as President, Ruth Beegle as Vice-President, Anna Jean Flanner as Secretary-Treasurer, and Hilda Reed as Chaplain. The officers planned several interesting programs with the aid of our able adviser, Miss Nellie Berg. Part of the year, due to a serious illness, Miss Berg was absent from school, and Miss Helen Louise Palmer ably substituted for her.

Throughout the year the plan was to study all phases of outdoor life including birds, animals, trees, and flowers. In the spring of the year hikes were planned. Each club has one object that is its pride, and the major piece of work in the Girls' Nature Club was the chart of wood that was made by the co-operation of all the members. Much of the wood is old and came from distant parts of the United States and of the world.

The work of the club was interesting and this was the first outdoor club for girls ever in the Hollidaysburg Schools. Each girl has done her best to make it a successful year. As a side study many of the girls had directed their attentions to astrology, so the club took the study as an added enjoyment. Field trips were held at which time the group studied the constellations. Some girls suggested that along with the study of wood we might include leaves. So it was decided to make it a person or individual project.

The club had a very successful year and has learned many valuable lessons about nature.

GIRLS BECOME STRING CRAFT EXPERTS

THE String Craft Club was organized during the 1937-38 school year to meet the growing demand among the girls for clubs that make things. The following girls were elected as officers of the group: Madeline Feathers, President; Maxine Crum, Vice-President; Betty Jane Barnett, Secretary; Reta Beigle, Treasurer; Jean Cross, Chaplain. Mrs. Mildred Campbell acted as the club adviser.

During the first meetings the club members devoted their time to mastering the fundamental crochet stitches using ordinary string, salvaged from packages, for practice material. After much patient effort at making and then ripping out and remaking the first articles sufficient skill was obtained to make useful articles.

The first real test of the skill developed came when the girls made hot dish holders and table mats. In these projects the more efficient members aided the less-skilled to get started on the road to success. More difficult projects followed. Each member was now permitted to select her own article to make. Wearing apparel such as collars, caps, belts, purses, and even dresses and jackets were chosen by the girls.

Mrs. Campbell urged the girls to use their newly acquired skill to beautify their homes. Luncheon sets, shade pulls, curtain pull-backs and chair back sets were made. Since this type of activity required much time a great amount of the work was done outside of the club period. The club meetings were used chiefly to develop skill in performing various stitches and developing patterns.

Although the club members were able to develop enough skill to make many useful articles they found that there is much to learn in this type of activity and look forward to the reorganization of the club the next school year. The club members have had a profitable and pleasurable first year as an organization and each girl now has a profitable hobby with which she can use her leisure time in the future.

KNITTERS MAKE CAPS AND SWEATERS

"KNIT two, pearl two, knit two, yarn over, knit two, and decrease one," no doubt would have been your greeting, if you had chanced to open the door of Room thirteen during activity period Thursday mornings in the Hollidaysburg High School. The Knitting and Tatting Club like many ohter activities began its functions for the 1937-38 term in the newly built high school.

The club worked under the guidance of Miss Marie Ammon. The officers chosen for the year were: Jeanne Fries, President; Faye Mountain, Vice-President; Helen Louise Helsel, Secretary-Treasurer; Charlotte McClain, Chaplain.

This year the club was grouped off according to ability in various sections of the room. In one corner were the beginners who learned to cast on, bind off, knit, pearl, and decrease. In another corner, you came to the progressive group, girls experimenting with simple sweaters and plain knitting. Then you heard the clicking of needles in the third corner. This was the advanced group, the craftsman whose fingers were certainly flying with complicated stitches, gloves, hats, sweaters, and skirts. Possibly you have already noticed the knitted wear worn by club members as they went down the halls.

The girls not only learned to knit but also learned the different kinds of yarns, what to select for garments, and secured instructions on the laundering of knitted garments.

The Knitting and Tatting Club contributed four and a half dollars to the Girls' League treasury earned as a result of a candy sale at the Boys' League Minstrel Show.

The club not only included knitters but tatters as well. Many of the girls found shuttles and had Miss Ammon show them the trick of tatting. Some of the girls became quite proficient in the form of handicraft.

By the end of the year most of the girls were wearing their knitted creations, and each member literally became a modern Madame Defarge.

BOYS' LEAGUE HEARS SPEAKERS

THE Boys' League of the Hollidaysburg High School was organized in 1930 to provide a contact for the boys with topics of educational interests which they do not get in any other part of their school life. The club had formerly taken in the boys of all six grades of the high school, but with the reorganization of the Hollidaysburg High School it is now composed of only the Senior High School boys.

The League meets as a whole the second Thursday of each month and meets as clubs two other Thursdays. The nine clubs sponsored by the League are chosen to provide a subject which can be made into a hobby or perhaps a profession for the pupil in later years. The boys are urged to choose a different club each year so that they have a chance to find one for which they are suited.

This year Walter A. Kearney became faculty adviser of the League taking the place of Griff Jones who had ably directed the organization heretofore. The officers which the boys elected for the term were Walter Wright, President; Clifford Gillette, Vice-President; John Jones, Secretary; William Burger, Treasurer.

After the meetings for the nomination and election of officers and the revising of the League constitution, the programs consisted mostly of speakers. Some of these were David R. Perry, who spoke on "Lincoln," William B. Leet, whose subject was "The Pyramid, a Basis of Our Mathematics of Today," and Hobson C. Wagner, who spoke on "Boy Meets Girl." John Hunter, Jr., and the Honorable Marion D. Patterson also gave short addresses. The boys appreciated having had the opportunity of hearing the above mentioned speakers.

The annual project of the organization was the presentation of the Boys' League Minstrel. This year Mr. Mentzer's tumbling team, and the Future Farmers' jug band helped to make the show a success. The proceeds were used to pay for the club pictures in the Chimrock.

GLEE CLUB AIDS MINSTRELS

THE Boys' Glee Club celebrated the eighth year of its existence under the direction of Mr. Cyrus D. Thompson, music director, during the past school year. Although not as large in numbers as it had been in the past few years, the Glee Club made up in quality what it lacked in quantity.

Beginning with the very first meeting of the year, when approximately thirty-five boys organized as a club, a great amount of interest was shown in the work by the club. At the first meeting a voice test was given to each member and then that member was assigned to either the first tenor, second tenor, baritone, or bass sections. After the various selections had been made, the work of the year, that of studying harmony in boys' voices, began. Throughout the year each boy was taught the basic fundamentals of his particular part.

Interest in the work of the club became so great among the members that an additional period besides the one asigned was requested by the boys. As a result of this request the club met each Friday as well as during the regular Thursday club periods.

As each season of the year progressed, the club sang songs which were appropriate. During the Christmas season, many of the members of the Glee Club took an active part in the various song services throughout the community. The majority of the cast for the annual minstrel show sponsored by the Boys' League were members of the club. The Mixed Chorus also found many of the Boys' Glee Club listed among its members.

The members of the club felt that the 1937-38 school year was the best as far as the Glee Club was concerned and look forward to next year to do even greater things.

The club officers were Walter Wright, President; Joe Delozier, Vice-President; King Wise, Secretary-Treasurer; Harold Schroeder, Chaplain; Mr. Cyrus D. Thompson, Director.

BOYS DEVELOP HOBBIES

WITH the inception of the Department of Industrial Arts in the Hollidaysburg school system this year greater opportunities were made available to the Hobby Club. The equipment and other facilities of the shop gave the boys an opportunity for a wider range of selection in choosing a hobby.

The purpose of the Hobby Club was to stimulate a greater interest in the hobbies the boys had already chosen or to interest them in some worth-while hobby that could be followed both in and out of school.

The interest shown by the boys in their hobbies was very keen. Among the thirty-nine boys in the club there were nineteen different fields of endeavor represented. Some of them included model boat and model airplane work, metal work, archery, electricity, reproduction of antiques, stamp, and tree bark collecting.

The Hobby Club was made up chiefly of boys who were taking a course in industrial arts, but all boys of the school were eligible.

The bi-monthly meetings of the Hobby Club were held in the industrial arts room of the high school building. The entire facilities and equipment of the shop were given to the club members for use during the club period. The added facilities afforded by the new equipment, wood lathe, metal lathe, drill press, sheet metal, wood-work, cold metal, and electrical equipment, gave the boys an opportunity to engage in many new fields for the first time.

The program of the Hobby Club was conducted entirely with the viewpoint of providing some worth-while, pleasurable, hobby for use during leisure time rather than from a vocational viewpoint. The increase of leisure time has made it imperative that all people, young and old, have some vocation. The Hobby Club has tried to provide some avocation for its members.

ONE of the fundamental principles of education is to provide a background for the worthy use of leisure. The greatest pleasure usually comes from the employment of one's leisure time in some profitable enterprise rather than in idleness. It has been the purpose of the Nature Study Club to stimulate interest in nature and outdoor life so that the club members might take an active part in studying the mysteries of life in its various forms.

The club members soon learned that one who has never come to think of nature as a great teacher and who has never thought of the wonders and beauty of life has really missed a part of the joy of living. From the reports given during the various club programs it was found that every plant and animal has a story of its own.

A report given by Glenn Yeckley informed us that in order to be a good fisherman a person has to have a knowledge of the habits of fish and how and where they live. Other reports by William Wilt and Charles Leightner convinced the group the necessity of being well informed about all the wild animals if one is to be a successful hunter.

Many interesting accounts were given by the club members in regard to their own experiences in fishing, trapping, and hunting. The importance of Pennsylvania as a game center and Central Pennsylvania in particular was pointed out in the reports given about deer, pheasants, bear, trout, bass and other game.

Clifford Mitchell was elected to serve as president of the club. The other officers were Blaine Long, Vice-President; Kenneth Leasure, Secretary-Treasurer; John McNight, Chaplain. Mr. Griff Jones served as Club Adviser.

The Nature Study Club took an active part in the minstrel show sponsored by the Boys' League to raise funds to defray the cost of having the various club pictures in the Chimrock.

PHOTOGRAPHERS DEVELOP PICTURES

THE school year 1937-1938 witnessed the formation of what promises to be, perhaps, the most interesting club sponsored by the Boys' League, the Photography Club. This club was organized under the direction of Mr. Donald Wolfe, an enthusiastic amateur photographer.

The purpose of the club was to teach the club members how to take better pictures by giving them the basic fundamentals that are involved in picture-making and to teach the boys the principles of picture developing and printing.

Due to the limited time alloted to the club periods and due to the lack of experience of the club members in photographic work many of the programs took the form of lectures given by Mr. Wolfe on the various phases of photography. After the lecture period general discussion periods followed during which the boys asked questions concerning the subject.

The history of photography proved to be an interesting subject to the club. The development of photography from the early type "camera," which was nothing more than the casting of a silhouette on a screen, up to the complex super-structures of today gave some interesting material for comparison.

One of the most interesting programs of the year was the one dealing with the various types of film and their reaction to light. It was found that the type of film used determined the intensity of light required. Many of the boys were surprised to learn that pictures could be made in fog and rain with their own cameras.

Angles from which to take pictures was another subject discussed. It was shown that every potential picture has a correct angle from which it should be taken.

The making of "pin-hole" cameras also proved to be a very interesting and educational project for the club.

The following boys were elected as the first officers of the Photography Club: Luther Conrad, President; George Funk, Vice-President; Clifford Gillette, Secretary-Treasurer; William Miller, Chaplain.

ATHLETES FORM CLUB

THE H-Club formed during the 1927-28 school year has a membership limited to those boys who have won a varsity letter or who have won numerals in one of the major sports sponsored by the school. The purpose of this club has been to better acquaint its members with the rules, purposes, and benefits of the various sports, especially those in which the club members are engaged.

At the beginning of the year the club president, George Schaeffer, appointed committees to secure programs and to gather data to be presented to the group for discussion. The early programs were devoted to the study of football. Club members on the football squad explained to the group various plays, football terms, as well as the things for which a spectator should look when witnessing a football game. As a climax to the programs focused on football the boys picked an All-American team from the collegiate ranks.

Basketball with its new rules next held the attention of the club. Check plays and blocks as explained by team members gave some of the boys of the club a new insight to the game that is fast becoming America's favorite sport.

Track records and track athletes were an interesting basis for discussion. The United States victories in the last Olympic games and the possibilities for the next games to be held in Tokyo were also discussed.

Although baseball has not been supported by Hollidaysburg High School for quite a few years, the game served as an interesting program. The immortals of the game and why they have come to be regarded as heroes provided a worthwhile program.

Throughout the year in each season of sport one program was devoted to rules interpretations and play situations. Mr. Vincent Chimente, club adviser and head coach of athletics, usually led these discussions.

In addition to George Schaeffer the following served as officers: Tom Yingling, Vice President; Raymond Piper, Secretary; Frank Hudson, Chaplain.

BAND DISPLAYS NEW UNIFORMS

ATTIRED in the splendor of new uniforms, the Hollidaysburg High School Band gave a creditable account of itself at the many school functions at which it appeared during the school year. The band appeared at all of the football games, pep meetings, basketball games, and during an assembly program.

The new band uniforms gave the musicians an added incentive to play and to march better than they had in years previous. Cadet style uniforms of royal blue with white piping gave the band a real military appearance, and the boys and girls performed in fine military style. The formations executed by the band were carried out with precision and brought many commendable remarks to the organization.

The drill performed before a special student assembly in the gymnasium brought round after round of applause from the students and faculty. This exhibition was, perhaps, the finest that the school band has performed for the last decade.

Faithful attendance and hard work brought the reward of good performances to the band as a unit. The band practiced its music three times weekly and also put in many hours of drilling after school hours. Individual band members were also rewarded for their hard work by being selected to membership in the All-District and the All-State Bands.

The band had a place of prominence at all the athletic contests. Led by Walter Carberry, drum major, the musicians entertained with drills and music between halves, and also played during the game. The singing by the student body was always accompanied by the band. This organization did much to add to the spirit of the team and of the students at all the games.

Cyrus D. Thompson, music director, was the inspiration behind all the fine work accomplished by the band this year. Mr. Thompson was honored this year by being chosen as president of the All-District North Central Pennsylvania School Music Association.

ORCHESTRAS GIVE CONCERTS

THE Senior Orchestra is made up of the more advanced musicians of the school. During the 1937-1938 school year fifty students earned the right to belong to this organization.

The Senior Orchestra has rendered a very efficient service to the school by performing at the various plays and other entertainments sponsored by school organizations. The orchestra also entertained the student body with a very fine program given during an assembly period.

Many of the members of the orchestra have been rewarded for their fine work by being selected as members of the All-District and All-State Orchestra.

THE Junior Orchestra is composed of beginning musicians and those not far enough advanced to perform with the senior group. The chief qualification for membership in the Junior Orchestra is the student's ability to make his own instrument harmonize with the others which constitute an orchestra. To enable the beginners to do this class instruction is given for their respective instruments for one year.

Advancement from the Junior to the Senior Orchestra is made as the student musician progresses in his ability to play. This year the junior group had forty members from both the Junior and Senior High Schools.

STAFF ATTENDS CONFERENCES

THE bi-weekly publication of the Hollidaysburg High School known as "The H-Burger" was advised by Miss Dorothy E. Harpster. The paper boasted of 19 staff members including the following students: Executive editor, Shirley Abelson; front page editor, Janet Smith; second page editor, Ruth Reed; third page editor, Jeanne Fries; fourth page editor, Betty Lois Edwards. The copy desk was taken care of by Hazel Diehl, Marjorie Suter, and Anna Jean Harry. Reporters are Jeanne Banholzer, Marcus Davis, Janis Krelitz, Mildred Blake, Marybelle Jones, Betty Jane Burger, Mary Jane Walls, and Mary Catherine Woods. John Keller served as the H-Burger's business manager with Clifford McClenahan as his assistant. All staff members were seniors.

The Central Pennsylvania Regional Press Association held their annual fall conference in Altoona at the Altoona High School. Here, executive editor Shirley Abelson and sports editor Jeanne Fries were leaders of discussion groups. Shirley led a discussion on the topic "The Use and Abuse of Editorials," and Jeanne on "Enlivening the Sports Page."

During the Christmas vacation, the Pennsylvania Scholastic Press Association met at Hershey. Being a member of that organization also, The H-Burger was represented at the conference. However, the three days in Hershey proved more than educational. Representatives had the opportunity of seeing Miss Bess Erdhart, one of the most famed ice skaters of the day.

Roaring Spring was host to the annual spring convention and in May the staff journeyed to the Pennsylvania State College conference sponsored by the journalism department of that school.

A novel idea introduced in the paper this year was that of having linoleum cuts on the sports page, representing the football and basketball heroes. Gladys Casner and Betty Lois Edwards covered the art angle of the paper.

As this year marked the H-Burger's eleventh anniversary, a special birthday edition was published. In it were statements by each of the former editors concerning some phase of journalism and its benefits.

QUILL AND SCROLL REORGANIZES

As a reward for their journalistic efforts, nine members of the H-Burger staff have been elected to the international honorary society for high school journalists, the Pulitzer Chapter of the Quill and Scroll. Those so honored were Executive Editor, Shirley Abelson; Front Page Editor, Janet Smith; Second Page Editor, Ruth Reed; Third Page Editor, Jeanne Fries; Fourth Page Editor, Betty Lois Edwards; Vocational Editor, Betty Jane Burger; and Copy Editors, Anna Jean Harry, Marjorie Suter, and Hazel Diehl.

To be eligible for membership into the society one must have maintained an 85 per cent average in all subjects the preceding year; one must be recommended by the chapter adviser; one must be accepted by the International Secretary, Edward Nell, after he has inspected samples of the applicant's work; one must pay a fee of $2 to cover membership dues, the cost of the emblem, and a year's subscription to the Quill and Scroll magazine; one must have a worthy character.

After an impressive initiation ceremony supervised by Miss Dorothy E. Harpster, faculty adviser of the H-Burger, officers were elected for the term. Those officers elected were: Jeanne Fries, President; Hazel Diehl, Vice-President; Betty Burger, Secretary; Janet Smith, Treasurer.

The purpose of the Quill and Scroll organization is to improve the style and technique of journalistic writing for high school students, and to seek a higher standard of journalism. Quill and Scroll societies are located in every state of the union.

Each member wears a Quill and Scroll pin denoting his or her membership in the organization. The pin is an open scroll with a quill across it. The scroll signifies the parchment upon which one writes, and the quill is the wherewithal for writing.

The Quill and Scroll magazine contains news articles about or taken from school newspapers all over the world.

The chapter in Hollidaysburg was organized April 22, 1931, when Frank Ramsey was the adviser of the H-Burger.

An Appreciation

THE 1938 Chimrock Staff wishes to take this opportunity to thank Griff Jones, Chimrock adviser, for his guidance and inspiration in making this book a success; the underclassmen for the support they have given the staff; the English Department of our school for their helpful advice in their critical revision of the script; Frank Mawicke and Donald Young of the Pontiac Engraving Company for their helpful suggestions; the Crescent Studio of Latrobe for their cooperation; our patrons and advertisers who have made this book possible.

We urge our subscribers to patronize the merchants whose advertisements appear on the following pages.

Why You Should Own Your Own Home

Real estate always has a value. It is a pleasure.
It gives you a better standing in the community in which you live.
It establishes credit which we all need throughout life.
It gives a sense of security and makes you feel that you are a part of the community.
What you spend in your own home you are spending for yourself.
It does away with rent receipt files that are of no value.
